Built originally before the Civil War and completely remodeled in 1936 by the Cal Milam family, the Merrick Inn served as the manor house for one of Lexington's finest horse farms.

It was here, at Merrick Place, that Cal Milam and his groom, Mr. Johnson, trained the fabled Exterminator, Kentucky Derby winner of 1918. Here also, Tut Tut, who won every race he entered as a two-year-old in 1920; and Komuraski, Commodore, Brown Wisdom, Miss Joy, Milkmaid, McKee (winner of the National Stallion Stakes), and Dust Flower, who defeated Cartoonist and Messenger in the 1922 Flash Stakes, all started on their paths to fame and fortune. None of these thoroughbreds, however, gained such widespread fame as Merrick himself.

Merrick finished in the money 157 times, winning 62 races. He became a member of the Milam family not only because of his success on the track, but also because he was "worthy in deeds and noble in character", a tribute etched by the Milams on his gravestone, located in the shady circle just in front of the Inn. Merrick died in 1941 at the age of 38, the oldest of all thoroughbreds. He was truly a very special horse, and his namesake, a very special farm.

We have been offering our guests the finest in traditional Southern cuisine and personal service from our amazing staff for more than 43 years. Times have changed, but we believe the beauty and charm of our Inn have only been enhanced through the years by welcoming so many good people and sharing the best of Kentucky traditions.

Thank you for dining with us.
